French Southern Territories , Powertec Information Portal

French Southern Territories, comprising of several islands in the Indian Ocean, are isolated with a harsh climate, making technology and telecommunications development challenging. The territories have no indigenous population, with only temporary French military personnel, scientists, officials and support staff residing.

Electric islands

Without access to power produced by French nuclear power plants and large hydropower units, or even large thermal plants, the cost of electricity is much higher in non-interconnected zones (NIZ) than in mainland France.
