The Trump administration has cancelled the 6.2GW Esmeralda 7 solar project in Nevada—once touted as one of the largest in the world—the US Bureau of Land. The Trump administration's cancellation of what would have been one of the world's largest solar power projects has some industry observers fretting over the future of renewable energy on public lands. They predicted the Esmeralda 7 project — by far the largest solar project that had moved through. A spokesperson said the agency canceled a broad environmental review grouping together seven individual projects that make up the 6.2-GW Esmeralda 7 project, but could review each individually.
