Trinkwasserversorgung, Sudan

The objective of the project was to guarantee reliable drinking water supply for the village Akobo in South Sudan. Therefore the equipment for six solar water pumping systems was delivered by Phaesun. Furthermore Phaesun installed three water yards with two pump systems each in cooperation with local staff.

Pump Systems

The ability to provide continuous power in any environment makes solar systems perfect for water pumping in remote areas. Solar pumping systems are flexible and modular and can be designed according to water demand or aquifer limitations. Some systems can work in hybrid configurations with other power supplies such as wind, generator or mains
